

How to use the Group Subscription to stop or receive team messages

Your Group Subscription setting is unique to each team that you are a member of. This allows you to control whether or how often you want to receive notification emails from your team. WA Portal can notify members each time*:

- A new message is created in the Exchange
- A comment is added to an Exchange message
- When events are added to a team calendar
- When a new folder is created within the team

Don't want to receive those notifications? Here are your options:

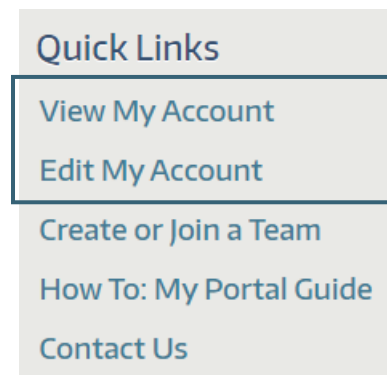

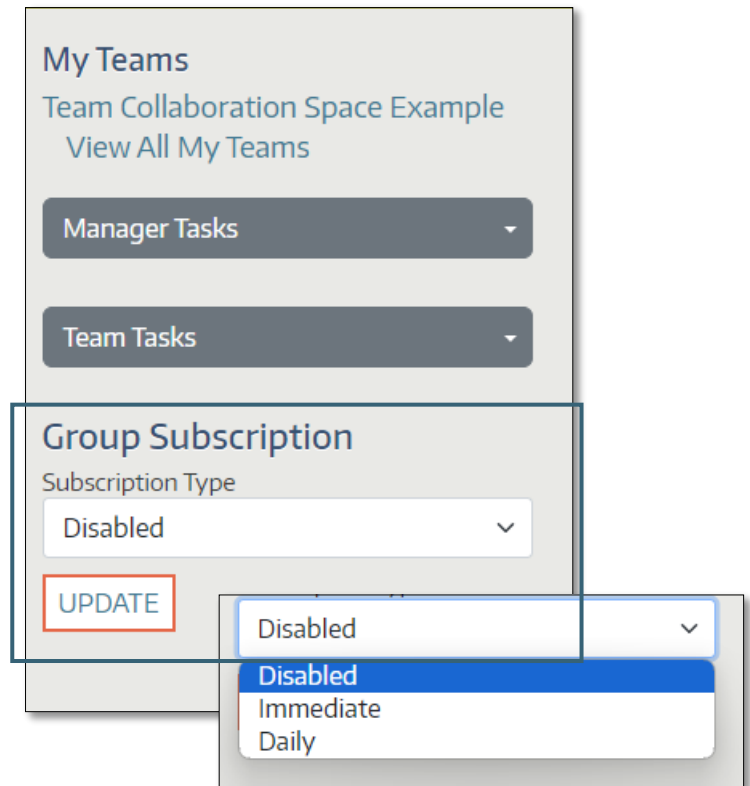

We assumed you were receiving enough emails so the default choice is set to Disabled. This prevents any messages from being sent to you.

Immediate means a notification email will be sent to you within an hour of the action taken (a comment, a reply, a new calendar item).

Daily sends you a summary of team messages, calendar items, etc. that were created in the team by or before 3 p.m. PST and will usually arrive in your in box by 4 p.m.

Need to customize this decision?

You aren't able to choose to receive only new calendar notifications or new Exchange comments, but if you are a member of multiple teams, you can choose a different subscription choice for each team.

Go to View My Account or Edit My Account and select Group Subscriptions.

You can then select Disabled, Immediate, or Daily for each team.

*When someone creates a new Exchange message or calendar event they can opt not to notify members before hitting send. Your team may want to agree to this option to manage when and how often messages are sent to all members.
